

HOW TO ACHIEVE WORLD DOMINATION: A BRIEF GUIDE TO TAKING OVER THE WORLD. (WITH THE POSSIBILITY OF PROGRESSING TO THE UNIVERSE, HOWEVER ONE STEP AT A TIME)

So, you are sitting there, contemplating. What to do? Political instability is rife, you can't shake off the impending doom of global warming and memes are no longer making you laugh. There is a solution! World Domination. I must admit it has been a goal of mine for a fair few years now, can't say I'm close but can't say I'm far either. I guess you could take inspiration from the Romans with some good old combat conquering, but I feel as though that method is just old hat. We need new, we need something that will be relevant in today's digital climate.

The Kardashians, love them or hate them you cannot deny that they are in fact very successful. According to cosmopolitan magazine (a trusted source) Kim Kardashian was worth 350 million dollars as of December 2018<sup>1</sup>, I don't know about you, but my current worth is probably less than £10. Kim also as of right now has 127 million Instagram followers naming her the 6th most followed account on Instagram according to a recent survey<sup>2</sup>. As well as this, people magazine (yet again a factual source) stated that 'Keeping Up with The Kardashians' had been aired in 167 countries as of 2017<sup>3</sup>, so it's safe to say many people recognise the name 'Kardashian' regardless of their opinion of them. Kris Jenner branded her family and now look, they are at the height of fame and fortune and could sell any product, all they have to do is create an Instagram post about it. However, maybe a leaked sex tape and excessive plastic surgery isn't the way you want to go about conquering the world. That's fine but just know, to conquer the world you will have to overcome the titanic force that is the Kardashians.

Sit down and create something new that people need. Paris Hilton is currently creating a virtual reality social media.<sup>4</sup> If Paris Hilton can do it then so can you! Bill Gates created Microsoft after dropping out of Harvard and what have you done? If you just so happen to be a child prodigy or born with a natural gift, then you get to take the easy route.

However, are you untalented and lack any sort creative gift or ability? That is okay, we have got you covered. Oscar Wilde so truthfully stated 'there is only one thing worse than being talked about and that is not being talked about' a quote from 'The Picture of Dorian Gray'<sup>5</sup> but something which I feel you need to bear in mind when considering world domination. If you want to conquer, you need people to know who you are. You can't just appear on one 'You've Been Framed' video and think you've made it. You need stamina and a digital presence. Why not create a persona? You can be anything you could possibly imagine. Whether you are revolting like 'Filthy Frank'<sup>6</sup> and create slapstick skits or maybe you need more substance to your alters such as those of MF DOOM<sup>7</sup>, with the ability to create music under different names as different personas. I personally think some sort of alter or persona is imperative in terms of world domination as it gives you the freedom to wipe your identity and as for the law, could save you if someone tried to foil your evil plans.

Obviously, you could create something outraging and shocking, Take Bjork for example, she definitely has the potential for world domination. You can't be afraid to push the boundaries, be controversial, it's the key for getting people talking about you. A great example of this is Tom Six, the brain behind the grotesque 'The Human Centipede' franchise. I myself, haven't cared to watch any of the movies however I know enough about them to know that they are in fact a game changer for horror. People are thirsty for more. Humour, especially online, is becoming darker, we as people now have access to so many dark interests that we may possess. There's porn for just about anything as well as Dark Web chatrooms for murderers and criminals. If you just so happen to have any twisted thoughts or ideas, use them! I mean after all, you have to be some level of evil to want to dominate the entire planet.

If you are lucky enough to be born into wealth, then you are halfway there. Use your wealth to assume power, why don't you set up a charity and keep the profits?<sup>8</sup> Or maybe fund a rebel group to take down those in political positions, infiltrate the government and campaign for a 'brighter future', concealing your bigger plans. Or maybe if you weren't born into wealth why not build a cocaine empire in a politically unstable country, buy out all the police and kill all those who stand in your way. Give excessive money to the poor and buy their votes to become one of the most celebrated criminals of all time. Although, be wary that the drug market is a very dangerous place, you wouldn't want to get caught.

Another criminal method would be to become a black hat hacker. Hack your way into the national grid by hacking EDF energy, then gain control of the nuclear power sites<sup>9</sup> in your chosen country. Now you have the power to cut off the energy supply to any country that you choose. This idea was inspired by Russia's hacking attempt in 2017 in which the Republic of Ireland's energy grid was hacked into and passwords for nuclear power plants were leaked. If you like this then why not create a super human sports team by doping up your athletes and dominating all sports titles. Maybe the key is Russia? If you can conquer Russia, you can conquer almost anybody. Watch out Putin.

In terms of drugging people, the easiest way would be to contaminate the water systems in place. I mean clothes factories in Indonesia<sup>10</sup> already leak industrial chemicals such as mercury and arsenic into rivers without consequence so really, how hard could it really be? Chemically, I would recommend researching into Ophiocordyceps unilateralis<sup>11</sup>, the killer fungi which is able to take over ant's brains in a form of mind control in order to get the ant to go to an area in which the fungi can grow, after which it terminates the ant. The classic red pill blue pill drugging seen in shows such as Sherlock and the Matrix won't cut it anymore, people aren't stupid. Maybe a more natural approach is needed, this is a naturally occurring mind control vessel which is pretty exciting if you ask me.

Ultimately, once you have assumed some sort of power rank I think the easiest way to take over the world is to consider fabricating reality. Create some sort of separation between visual reality and experienced reality- this idea was taken from the matrix. Have a 'reality' in which people can live as if it were normal, a stable and calm environment without it being too suspicious. Then have the real reality in which you have total control, you can demolish areas without anyone being aware. I must admit this stage of the plan is difficult to think about because I don't think so far anyone has ever reached it but I am sure with strong willpower and determination it can be achieved and I can wholeheartedly say that I have faith that it would work.

I hope that this brief guide has enough pointers and beginning points for your journey of world domination. Obviously, if you want to conquer it is best done alone but I think having a team of people wouldn't hurt. Coax them and reassure them that it is in fact a group effort for a group vision but then at the last-minute turn around, betray them and what do you know, the world is yours. I am currently investigating ways in which to create a sequel to this plan which covers the universe and dominating other planets but bear with, this sort of thing takes a lot of time and consideration. Be patient and you shall succeed.

However if it just so happens that you succeed, or fail in that matter there is to be no mention of this text. I also want to express that I am not encouraging world domination in any way, just some simple suggestions and techniques.
