

I TRIED TO WRITE A LOVE SONG.

Well, my heroes are villains in the lines of your songs
They show me the road to go and where I belong
I tried but I lost it all just the other day
I run around in circles just to hear you say

I love you my darling, but I've got to know inside
Why I never ever realise and swallow my pride
You're all I've ever wanted, I need you in my life
So, take hold of my hand, let me make you my wife

And marry me tonight under the light of the stars
Then we'll honeymoon later with a drink at the bar
You'll sing me a song, sing me a sweet lullaby
Kiss me and hold me like we're never going to die

Because you're mine, I love you, I'm never going to go
I follow you round town and you don't even know
I know where you live, you don't even know my name
Don't tell your boyfriend, he'll think I'm just insane

Because you're mine, I'll get you and you're never going to flee
I'll tie you, I'll beat you, you just belong to me
I'll smother you with kisses, I'll never lose you now
I love you my darling so please hear my vows

To stay with you, to ruin you, to have you as my slut
You could have it so much better than you already do but You're with him, he ruined us, you still don't know my name
I know where you live, you made me play this game

I'm coming, I'll find you, just close your fucking eyes
Take a deep, deep breath and count down from five
I'm the scratching at the window, the creaking up your stairs
I'm the hand over your mouth, the brushing through your hair

I've found you, I love you, you'll never get away
I drag you down the stairs and I ask if I may
Caress you but I look down and there's red on your head
Your body may be stiff, but my love isn't dead

I caress you, undress you, you're never going to leave
I'll keep you as my dolly and do as I please
Your boyfriend won't mind, he's strung up outside
We're finally together, let me take you for a ride

Well, my heroes are villains in the lines of your songs
They show me that love can never ever be wrong
I tried but I lost it all just the other day
I love you my darling...Why'd you let it end this way?